- earn additional income by selling call options against shares you already own or when buying shares, thereby selling the right for someone else to buy your shares at a set price
- protect the value of your shares from a fall in price, by buying put options to lock in a price for the underlying shares, and
- capitalise on share price or market movements without purchasing the underlying share or market exposure, by buying call options when you expect the underlying share price or market to rise, or buying put options when you expect the underlying share price or market to fall.

There are many ways you can use Derivatives to invest. To discuss the most suitable strategy for your personal circumstances, or if you would like assistance completing your Derivatives Client Account Form, please speak with your Shaw Adviser. B. Basic Features of ETOs

The following discussion is not intended to be a detailed discussion of all features of ETOs, but rather to identify some of the key features of ETOs. For a more detailed description, you should refer to information under the heading ASX Educational Booklets in section A of this PDS.

Types of ETOs

The three types of ETOs traded on ASX are as follows:

- Equity options are options over financial products quoted on ASX, for example, shares of listed companies. These options are known as deliverable options in the sense that, upon exercise, one party must take delivery of the underlying financial product.
- Index options are options over an index such as the S&P/ASX 200 Index. These options are known as cash settled options in the sense that, upon exercise of an option, the Buyer (taker) of the option will have the right to receive an amount of money and the Seller (writer) will have a corresponding obligation to pay that amount (provided the option is in the money). The amount of money will be determined by the difference between the exercise level (set by ASX) and the Opening Price Index Calculation (OPIC) as calculated by ASX on the expiry date of the option. The OPIC is based on the first traded price of each constituent stock in the index on the expiry day (if a constituent stock does not trade on the expiry day, the last traded price from the previous trading day will be used). Cash settlement occurs in accordance with the rules of ASX Clear.
- LEPOs are call options with an exercise price of one cent per underlying share or in respect of index LEPOs, an exercise level of one point of the underlying index. In other words, they function in a similar way to equity options, but with a very low exercise price.

Use of ETOs

ETOs are a versatile financial product which can allow investors to:

- hedge against fluctuations in your underlying share portfolio
- increase the income earned from your portfolio (through the earning of premium income)
- increase returns from leverage
- diversify your portfolio, and
- profit from market movements.

Their flexibility stems from the ability to both buy (take) and sell (write) an ETO contract and undertake multiple positions targeting specific movements in the overall market and individual underlying shares. The use of ETOs within an investor's overall investment strategy can provide flexibility to take advantage of rising, falling and neutral markets. However, both the purchase and sale of ETOs involve risks, which are discussed in greater detail later in this PDS.

Concepts

The following concepts need to be understood before trading in ETOs:

- the effect that time has on a position or strategy
- how volatility changes, both up and down, may affect the price or value of an option and the potential outcome
- how to calculate margins and worst case scenarios for any position
- the likelihood of early exercise and the most probable timing of such an event
- the effect of dividends and capital reconstructions on an option position, and
- the liquidity of an option, the role of market makers and the effect this may have on your ability to enter and exit a position.

Whilst this PDS provides product information including information about the risks, characteristics and benefits of Options, you should inform yourself of and if necessary, obtain advice about the specific risks, characteristics and benefits of the Option you intend to trade and relevant ASX rules.

Standardised contracts

The terms and specifications of ASX's ETOs (other than the premium, which is negotiated between the Buyer (taker) and Seller (writer) are determined by ASX in accordance with ASX's rules. Details of the contract specifications and standardised features for ETOs traded on ASX are published by ASX on their website. ASX determines the key contract specifications for each series of ETO. For example, in the context of equity options, ASX sets the following:

- the underlying security (e.g. NAB)
- whether the option is a call option or a put option
- the contract size - the number of units of the underlying security to which the option relates. The contract size for equity options set by ASX is usually 100 (e.g. one contract is equal to 100 NAB shares). The contract size of Index Options is usually $10 per index point
- exercise style – that is, American style or European style
- the exercise price (or strike price) – the specified price at which the Buyer of an equity option can, through exercise of the option, buy (in the case of a call option) or sell (in the case of a put option) the underlying securities, and
- the expiry date.

In accordance with its rules, ASX may make an adjustment to any of the above specifications, as discussed below under the heading Adjustments in section B of this PDS.

Similarly, for index options, the relevant parameters will also be set by ASX, including the underlying index, index multiplier, exercise style (European), exercise level intervals of the option and expiry date. Some of the concepts referred to above, such as contract size, exercise style, exercise price and expiry date are discussed in more detail below.

Buyers (takers) and Sellers (writers)

Every ETO contract has both a Buyer (taker) and a Seller (writer).

Buyers of ETOs are referred to as takers as they take up the right to exercise the option (e.g. the right to exercise the option and either buy or sell the underlying shares at the exercise price, in the case of an equity option).

Sellers of ETOs are referred to as writers because they underwrite (or willingly accept) the obligations, which are required to be performed upon exercise of the option (e.g. to buy or sell the underlying shares at the exercise price, in the case of an equity option).

Call and put options

ETOs may be call options or put options. The type of call options and put options will depend on whether the options are equity options or index options.

For equities, a call option gives the Buyer (taker) the right, but not the obligation, to buy a quantity of underlying shares at a pre-determined price on or before a pre-determined date. If the Buyer exercises their right to buy, the Seller (writer) to which the exercise notice is assigned by ASX Clear, is required to sell the quantity of shares at the pre-determined exercise price.

For equities, a put option gives the Buyer the right, but not the obligation, to sell a standard quantity of underlying shares at a pre-determined price on or before a pre-determined date. If the Buyer exercises their right to sell, the Seller to which the exercise notice is assigned by ASX Clear is required to buy the quantity of shares at the pre-determined exercise price.

In relation to an index, a call option gives the Buyer the right, but not the obligation to exercise the option. If the OPIC level of the index exceeds the exercise level of the index option, the Buyer will, upon exercise of the option, have the right to receive an amount of money that is determined by multiplying the difference between the closing level and the exercise level by the index multiplier specified by ASX. If the Buyer exercises the option, the Seller to which the exercise notice is assigned by ASX Clear, is required to pay the corresponding amount.

In relation to an index, a put option gives the Buyer the right, but not the obligation to exercise the option if the OPIC level of the index is less than the exercise level of the index option. The Buyer will on exercise of the option, have the right to receive an amount of money as detailed for a call option and the Seller will need to pay the corresponding amount.

Exercise style

ETOs may be of American or European exercise style. American style options can be exercised at any time prior to and including the expiry day. European style options can only be exercised on the expiry day and not before. Most equity ETOs are American style options. Index ETO and LEPOs are European style options.

Premium

As noted, the only term of an option contract an investor trades on ASX that is not set and pre-determined by ASX, is the price of the contract.

The price, known as the premium is negotiated between the Buyer (taker) and Seller (writer) of the ETO through the market.

The premium for an equity ETO is quoted on cents per underlying share basis, so the dollar value payment is calculated by multiplying the premium amount by the number of underlying shares (which, as discussed above, is usually 100 at the time the option series is opened, but may be adjusted by ASX). For example, if you buy one call option with a premium quoted at 25 cents per share and the contract size is 100, the total premium value is $25.00 (being $0.25 x 100).

The premium for an index option is calculated by multiplying the premium (specified in terms of the number of points of the index) by the index multiplier. For example, a premium of 30 points with an index multiplier of $10.00 represents a total premium value of $300 per contract.

The value of an Option will fluctuate during its life depending on a range of factors including the exercise price, the price of the underlying share, the level of the underlying index, the volatility of the underlying share or index, the time remaining to expiry, interest rates, dividends and general risks applicable to markets.

Option premium can be separated into two parts – intrinsic value and time value. Different factors influence intrinsic and time value. Intrinsic value is the difference between the exercise price of the ETO and the prevailing market price of the underlying shares at any given time. Time value represents the amount you are prepared to pay for the possibility that the market might move in your favour during the life of an ETO. The time value is determined by:

- volatility
- time to expiry
- interest rates, and
- market expectations.

As the expiry date draws nearer, the time value diminishes. This erosion of ETO value is called time decay. Time value does not decay at a constant rate however, typically increasing in rate as the expiry date draws closer. As a general guide, an ETO will lose a third of its time value during the first half of its life and two thirds during the second half.

Volatility is one of the most important influences in the price of an ETO. Volatility measures the amount by which an underlying share is expected to fluctuate in a given time period. Volatility contributes significantly to the price of ETO premium and time value. The higher the volatility, the more chance the option has of becoming profitable before expiration. Generally, the more volatile the market, the higher the premium will be as the Seller is exposed to a greater possibility of incurring loss. The receipt of higher premium is compensation for this increased risk.

A rise in interest rates will increase call option premiums and reduce put option premiums.

Ultimately, supply and demand determine the market value of all Options. During times of strong demand, premiums will generally be higher.

If an underlying share goes ex-dividend during the life of an ETO, the premium of a call option will be lower as shares tend to fall in value on going ex-dividend. Conversely, if the share had not gone ex-dividend during the life of the option, the premium of a put option becomes higher. This is because share price declines make call options less valuable and put options more valuable.

Most Option pricing involves the use of a mathematical formula that includes the calculating of intrinsic and time values of the particular Option. You should refer to the information under the heading Option pricing fundamentals in the ASX Booklet Understanding Options Trading for more information regarding the fundamentals of pricing Options. ASX also provides a pricing calculator on its website at www.asx.com.au or you may speak with your Adviser to assist with price information.

Out of, At or In the money

A call option is out of the money if the strike price of the option is greater than the market price for the underlying security or index. That is, any purchase of a security will be at a price higher than the market price. A put option is out of the money if the strike price of the option is lower than the market price for the underlying security or index.

A call and a put option are at the money if the strike price of the option is the same price as the market for the underlying security or index.

A call option is in the money if the strike price of the option is lower than the market price for the underlying security or market. A put option is in the money if the strike price of the option is higher than the market price for the underlying security or index.

Adjustments

ASX may, in accordance with its rules, make an adjustment to any of the specifications of an Option to reflect corporate actions in respect of the underlying shares, for example if the issuer makes a bonus issue, rights issue, special dividend, capital reduction or other similar event. If ASX does make an adjustment, it will endeavour to do so in a way which puts the Buyer (taker) and Seller (writer) in substantially the same economic position they would have been in had the adjustment event not occurred, so as to preserve the value of open positions of Buyers and Sellers at the time of the adjustment.

In some cases, ASX may decide not to make an adjustment for a corporate action and instead, direct that open positions be terminated or closed out. When ASX makes an adjustment to the terms of an option series, ASX Clear will make a corresponding adjustment to the terms of contracts that are already open. For further details ASX has issued an Explanatory Note for Option Adjustments that can be viewed at www.asx.com.au.

No entitlements

The parties to an equity option do not, under the terms of the option, have any entitlement to dividends, franking credits or other entitlements paid or made by the issuer of the underlying shares. The Seller (writer) of a call option or the Buyer (taker) of a put option will only have such entitlement should they directly hold the shares.

If the Buyer of a call option wants to participate in a prospective dividend or entitlement, the Buyer will need to first exercise the option, allowing sufficient time to become the registered holder prior to the ex-dividend or entitlement date. The resulting sale and purchase of underlying shares on the exercise of an equity option will settle on the second business day following the exercise of the option. More information is provided on this subject under the heading Settlement Process within section B of this PDS.

Expiry

ETOs have a limited life span and expire on standard expiry days set by ASX Clear. The expiry day for equity options expiring up to and including June 2020 is usually the Thursday before the last Friday in the expiry month, providing both the Thursday and Friday are full business days. For expiries beyond this date the expiry day is usually the third Thursday of the expiry month, unless ASX Clear determines another day. This may change for various reasons (e.g. for public holidays). There are also a limited number of options that expire every week, generally on a Thursday. Please contact your Adviser for more information.

For index options and index LEPOs, expiry is at 12 noon Sydney time on the third Thursday of the contract month provided that day is a business day. On each occasion exercise notices can be made to ASX Clear by the given time on the relevant expiry date. Expiry information is available at www.asx.com.au. You should follow the links to Trading information and then Expiry calendar. ASX Clear has the right to change these expiry dates should the need arise.

Exercise

The Buyer (taker) of an ETO has the right (but not the obligation) to exercise the option contract. This means that the Seller (writer) of an ETO may be exercised against at any time prior to expiry (American style only). When the Buyer exercises an option, ASX Clear will randomly assign that exercise to an open position held by a Seller in the relevant option series.

Automatic exercise

Shaw will automatically exercise your taken ETO contract on the expiry date of the option if your contract is one cent in the money for equity options or one point in the money for index options. For call options, the option will be in the money where the exercise price is below the price of the underlying shares. For put options, the option will be in the money where the exercise price is higher than the price of the underlying shares. All unexercised option contracts will expire on the expiry date.

Deliverable or cash settled

ETOs are either deliverable or cash settled. Options are described as deliverable where the obligations of the Buyer (taker) and Seller (writer) are settled by the delivery of the underlying share. Equity options are deliverable because upon exercise, one party is required to transfer the underlying shares to the other at the exercise price. Options are described as cash settled where the obligations of the Buyer and Seller are settled by payment and receipt of a cash amount. Index options are cash settled.

Settlement process

When an equity option is exercised by a Buyer (taker) and the exercise is assigned by ASX Clear to an open position of a Seller (writer), a contract for the sale and purchase of the underlying shares at the exercise price will arise between the Seller and the Buyer. The parties to this transaction must then settle that transaction in the same way as any other ASX transaction for shares. Payment for and the delivery of underlying shares, occurs via ASX Clearing House Electronic Subregister System (CHES) on T+2. CHES is operated by ASX Settlement Pty Limited, the settlement facility for ASX transactions and settlement will occur in accordance with the ASX Settlement Operating Rules. Your obligations in relation to settlement are set out in your Client Agreement and Derivatives Client Agreement.

Index options are cash settled. When an index option is exercised by a Buyer and the exercise is assigned by ASX Clear to an open position of a Seller, the Seller of the option must pay the cash settlement amount to ASX Clear. That amount will be determined by the difference between the exercise level (set by ASX) and the OPIC, as calculated by ASX on the expiry date. Cash settlement occurs in accordance with the rules of ASX Clear. For more information on settlement of index options see the section entitled Trading Index Options in the ASX Booklet Understanding Options Trading.

Time to settle

Shaw and its Clearing Participant, require that you settle by 9am of the next business day (T+1) all trading debits or other cash financial transactions which arise from your dealings in Options. This requirement is reflected in the terms of our Derivatives Client Agreement with you. You are required to pay the margin amount we call from you within 24 hours of being advised of the margin shortage or sooner should we choose. Please refer to the information under the headings Margins and Additional Margins in section C of this PDS.

For cash settled ETOs the settlement amount is paid to exercising Buyers (takers) on the day following the expiry date. The calculation used for settling ETOs over an index is determined by special formula. If you intend investing in ETOs over an index you should take the time to understand these arrangements. For more information please refer to the relevant section of the ASX Booklet Understanding Options Trading.

Payment for and the delivery of underlying shares upon exercise of an open ETO via CHES is required on T+2 (i.e. the second business day after the transaction was undertaken).

Shaw, or its Clearing Participant, is obliged to make the above payments to ASX within this timeframe.

Cooling off period

There are no cooling-off arrangements for ETOs.

Opening a position

Unlike shares, ETOs are not instruments that a person buys or sells in the ordinary sense. ASX sets the terms of ETOs and, if we enter into a contract for you as Buyer (taker) or Seller (writer), we are regarded as having opened the contract for you. If you have opened a position as the Buyer of an ETO, you have three alternatives:

- exercise the option
- hold the option to expiry and allow it to expire worthless, or
- close the position by selling an option in the same series and instructing us to close out the open position.

If you have opened a position as the Seller of an ETO, you have two alternatives:

- let the option run to expiry and risk being exercised (if not exercised, it will expire without any further obligation or liability to you), or
- close out the option by buying an option in the same series (provided it has not been exercised).

Closing a position

An ETO may be closed out by entering into an option in the same series, but opposite position. In other words, if you have an open position in an option as a Buyer (taker), you can close out that position by entering into an option in the same series as a Seller (writer). This effectively cancels out the open position. For example, an investor might close out an open option contract in the following scenarios:

- The investor may want to avoid an unwanted early exercise. For example, the Seller of an option may want to close out the option (by taking an option in the same series) to avoid the risk of having a Buyer's exercise notice allocated to the Seller's option.
- The investor may want to take a profit. For example, the Buyer of a call option may have paid a premium of $1 per option and the same option series may now be sold for a premium of $1.20, because the price of the underlying share has increased. The Buyer may therefore close out his or her position by selling an option in the same series, profiting from the difference of $0.20 per underlying share.
- The investor may want to limit a loss. For example, the Buyer of a call option may have paid a premium of $1 per option and the same option series may now be sold for only $0.80, because the price of the underlying share has decreased or because the time to expiry has reduced. The Buyer may therefore close out his or her position by selling an option in the same series, crystallising a loss of the difference of $0.20 per underlying share.

It is important that you advise us if you are seeking to close out an existing position when placing your order. Closing out can be achieved without reference to the original party to the trade because of the process of novation. ASX Clear is able to substitute a new Buyer as the contract party when an existing Buyer sells to close their position. The process of novation is discussed in more detail below under the heading The Role of ASX Clear in section C of this PDS.

LEPOs

LEPOs are essentially equity options with an exercise price of one cent per underlying share. LEPOs are European style options, in other words, they can only be exercised on the last trading day before they expire.

The Buyer (taker) of a LEPO has the right to buy an agreed number of shares (e.g. 100 shares per LEPO contract) at a specified future date in return for the payment of the exercise price (one cent per share). The Seller (writer) of a LEPO undertakes to sell the underlying shares at expiry in return for the exercise price. As with other options, the Seller of a call option is only required to deliver the underlying shares if the Buyer exercises the option. When you enter into a LEPO you do not pay (or receive) upfront the full amount of the premium. Instead, you pay or receive margins during the life of the LEPO (that is, the LEPO is marked to market daily) and pay or receive the balance of the premium if and when you exercise the LEPO.

LEPOs are different from standard ETOs in a number of respects, summarised below:

- LEPOs are only available as call options.
- LEPOs are European style options, meaning they are exercisable on the last trading day before they expire, while standard equity options are generally American style options.
- LEPOs have a very low exercise price and a much higher premium – close to the initial value of the underlying shares, the subject of the LEPO.
- LEPOs have only one exercise price per expiry month, unlike other options, which offer a range of exercise prices.
- LEPOs do not require an amount equal to the full premium to be paid on purchase. Instead the Buyer effectively pays a margin, which represents a percentage of the value of the underlying shares. In standard equity options, the Buyer pays the premium up front and the Seller receives the premium up front.

- Both the Buyer and Seller of a LEPO are subject to ongoing margining.

In summary, the premium for a LEPO will generally track the price of the underlying shares, so an investor's profit or loss will generally track movements in the underlying share on a one-for-one basis. Buying a LEPO is similar to a forward purchase of shares, while selling a LEPO is similar to a forward sale of shares. Because of their low exercise price, LEPOs trade for large premiums. The high premium exposure carries a risk similar to that of owning the shares outright or, for Sellers, short selling shares.

Although the exposure with LEPOs is similar to owning the underlying shares, you are not entitled to dividends or other rights attached to the shares, such as voting rights.

C. Clearing and Settlement

ETOs traded on ASX are cleared through ASX Clear, a licensed clearing and settlement facility under the Corporations Act. Shaw's Clearing Participant, as a participant of ASX Clear will clear and settle all ETOs traded with Shaw. In doing so Shaw's Clearing Participant must comply with the ASIC Market Integrity Rules and ASX Clear Operating Rules.

The role of ASX Clear

When we enter into an ETO for you, the transaction is reported to ASX Clear for registration. Upon registration of a contract by ASX Clear, the original traded contract is terminated and replaced by two contracts, known as Derivatives CCP Contracts. One contract is between the Clearing Participant who clears the contract for the Buyer (taker) of the option and ASX Clear. The other contract is between the Clearing Participant who clears the contract for the Seller (writer) of the option and ASX Clear. This process of registration and creation of two Derivatives CCP Contracts is known as novation and is described briefly in the ASX booklet Understanding Options Trading.

You, as the client, are not party to either of those contracts actually registered with ASX Clear. Although Shaw may act on your instructions or for your benefit, upon registration of the ETO with ASX Clear in our Clearing Participant's name, the Clearing Participant incurs obligations to ASX Clear as principal, even though the ETO was entered into on your instructions. All ETOs traded for you by Shaw will be cleared by Shaw's Clearing Participant.

Margins

ASX Clear contracts with Clearing Participants as principals. Where a Clearing Participant has an exposure under an ETO contract to ASX Clear, ASX Clear will call amounts of money known as margin from the Clearing Participant as cover.

Margins are generally a feature of all Options and are designed to protect ASX Clear against default. A margin is the amount calculated by ASX Clear as being necessary to cover the risk of financial loss on an ETO contract due to an adverse market movement.

The Seller (writer) of an ETO will ordinarily be required to pay margin in respect of that contract or provide collateral acceptable to ASX Clear. This is because ASX Clear is exposed to the risk that the Seller will not perform their obligations if and when the option is exercised. The Buyer (taker) of an ETO will not be required to pay margin in respect of that contract, because they are not at risk – they must pay the premium up front and that is the maximum amount the Buyer of the option can lose in respect of that contract (together with any transaction costs).

The total margin called by ASX Clear for ETOs is made up of two components, in each case, determined by ASX Clear:

- premium margin – the market value of the particular position at the close of business each day, and
- risk margin – the potential change in the price of the option contract assuming the assessed maximum probable intraday movement in the price of the underlying share or index.

Amounts of margin are determined daily by ASX Clear, following the close of trading each day. In times of extreme volatility ASX Clear may make an intraday margin call. Shaw's Clearing Participant will, under the terms of our Client Agreement and Derivatives Client Agreement, call from you all amounts of margin which ASX Clear requires in respect of positions which we have entered into for you.

Shaw, and at our direction Shaw's Clearing Participant, may also call for greater amounts of margin if we regard this as appropriate.

Additional margins

At our discretion Shaw can, or as directed by us Shaw's Clearing Participant may, assign an additional margin buffer (margin multiplier) to each account to be paid to Shaw's Clearing Participant above those set by ASX Clear. We may, at our discretion, assign a maximum margin limit to each account. You will need to ensure your account's total margin does not exceed the account's margin limit.

In addition to the margins payable to ASX Clear, Shaw might, for instance, apply a margin multiplier of:

- 30% to Australian resident retail clients accounts above the ASX Clear calculated margins.
- 35% to foreign resident retail client accounts above the ASX Clear calculated margins.

By way of example if your margin requirement to ASX Clear is $1000, you will be required to provide Shaw's Clearing Participant with $1,300 if you are an Australian resident retail client and $1,350 if you are a foreign retail client. Shaw may, at its sole discretion, impose a higher margin should it form the view that it is warranted. Any additional margin not called by ASX Clear will be deposited in Shaw's Clearing Participant's trust account.

Collateral

ASX Clear margin obligations may be met by paying cash or by providing certain types of eligible collateral (e.g. shares). Shares (held by you), which are acceptable to ASX Clear may be lodged with ASX Clear as collateral for margin obligations relating to ETO positions. Unlike cash, when shares are lodged with ASX Clear, the shares are held as third party security in the sense that they represent collateral provided by you to secure Shaw's Clearing Participant's obligations to ASX Clear. The lodged shares cannot be used by Shaw or its Clearing Participant in relation to Shaw's dealings, or for our other clients in relation to their dealings, unless authorised by you.

As a risk management tool, ASX Clear will likely apply a haircut in relation to the value of shares lodged. For example, if you lodge $10,000 worth of shares and ASX Clear applies a 30% haircut, only $7,000 will be considered as collateral cover for any margin obligations. The margining process used by ASX Clear is explained in detail in the ASX booklet Margins which is available on the ASX website.

You must pay margin to Shaw's Clearing Participant, or provide alternative collateral that is acceptable to us, within 24 hours of being advised of the call for it (or sooner as required by Shaw). Any interest levied on late settlement and margin payments is due and receivable at the time the amount is levied and within one business day of the demand being made by Shaw.

Client trust accounts

The Corporations Act provides that your money held in Shaw's trust account or our Clearing Participant's trust account can be used for the purposes of meeting margin obligations, guaranteeing, securing, transferring, adjusting or settling your dealings in derivatives. This money will not be used to meet the obligations of any other party.

National Guarantee Fund

The National Guarantee Fund (NGF) provides investors with protection in the following circumstances:

- if an equity option is exercised, the NGF guarantees completion of the resulting trades in certain circumstances, and
- if you have entrusted property to Shaw or its Clearing Participant in the course of dealing in ETOs, and either party becomes insolvent, you may claim on the NGF in accordance with the rules governing the operation of the NGF, for any property which has not been returned to you or has not otherwise been dealt with in accordance with our obligations to you. There are limits on claims against the NGF for property entrusted. For more information on the possible protections offered by the NGF see www.segc.com.au.

D. Benefits

Benefits of ETOs

ETOs have a number of advantages including:

- Hedging. Investors can hedge (protect) their share portfolio against a drop in value by, for example, buying (taking) equity put options over particular shares.
- Income. Shareholders can earn income by selling (writing) call options over underlying shares they already hold. As a Seller (writer) of options, the investor will receive the premium amount upfront, when the option transaction is entered. However, the Seller will need to maintain margin obligations throughout the life of the option, and the position could be exercised. This exercise will result in the Seller being required to deliver the underlying shares to the Buyer (taker) at the exercise price.
- Time to decide. By buying a call option, the purchase price for the underlying shares is locked in. This gives the call option holder time to decide whether or not to exercise the option and buy the shares. The holder has until the expiry date to make the decision. Likewise the Buyer of a put option has time to decide whether or not to sell the shares.
- Reduce default risk. ETOs benefit from standardisation and registration with a clearing and settlement facility that reduces counterparty default risk. Shaw's Clearing Participant's risk is to ASX Clear, not to a third party. This process also provides the benefit that an open position can be closed out without having to deal with the original counterparty.
- Speculation. ETOs can be used for speculation where the flexibility of entering and exiting the market prior to expiry (subject to liquidity) permits an investor to take a view on market movements and trade accordingly. In addition, the variety of option combinations allows investors to develop strategies regardless of the direction of the market.
- Profit in a rising or falling market. Investors can profit from both rising and falling markets depending on the strategy they have employed. Strategies may be complex and will have different levels of risk.
- Leverage. Trading in options can allow investors to benefit from a change in the price of the share without having to pay the full price of the share. An investor can purchase an option (representing a larger number of underlying shares) for less outlay and still benefit from a price move in the underlying shares. The ability to make a higher return for a smaller initial outlay is called leverage. Investors however, need to understand that leverage increases risk.
- Diversify portfolios. Given the lower initial outlay attached to options, investors can diversify their portfolios and gain broader market exposure over a range of shares or an index.
- Offsetting positions. Investors can reduce their initial outlay to the extent that they have offsetting positions. An ETO position may be closed out by placing an order equal and opposite in effect to the original order – this effectively cancels out the open position.

Information on trading strategies

For information and examples regarding trading strategies using ETOs, refer to the Pay-off section in the ASX booklet Understanding Options Trading available on the ASX website.

Benefits of LEPOs

LEPOs carry all the benefits detailed above for ETOs other than time to decide. LEPOs have additional advantages including:

- when opening a LEPO contract you gain exposure to the full value of the underlying shares but actually pay only a fraction of the full premium of the LEPO upfront. This potentially provides a greater return to the investor but also means LEPOs have a higher risk profile.
- selling a LEPO gives you exposure to a decline in the value of the underlying asset, enabling you to profit if the price of the asset falls. The sale of a LEPO can be compared to a short position over shares. Using a LEPO can also be a cost effective alternative to borrowing to fund a purchase of shares.
- credit margins from existing open positions may be used to reduce the initial margin payable. This can further reduce the cash outlay when opening a contract.
- LEPOs are European style options, meaning they are only exercisable at expiry and you will not have to be concerned about the possibility of an early exercise. For further information and detailed examples of LEPOs trading, refer to the LEPOs Low Exercise Price Options Explanatory Booklet on the ASX website.

E. Risk Disclosure

Trading in ETOs can carry the risk of substantial loss. Accordingly ETOs are not suitable for some investors. It is essential you understand the nature and extent of your potential exposure to risk before opening a position. Carefully consider whether trading ETOs is appropriate in light of your investment objectives and financial circumstances.

The risks attached to investing in ETOs will vary in degree depending on the position taken. The Buyer (taker) of an ETO, whether it is a call option or a put option, has a known and limited potential loss. If an ETO expires with no value, the Buyer will lose the total value paid for the option (the premium), plus any transaction costs incurred. The Seller (writer) of an ETO may entail considerably greater risk. The premium received by the Seller of an ETO is both limited and fixed, however the Seller may incur substantially greater loss than that sum and indeed be exposed to unlimited losses in certain circumstances (e.g. sold naked call).

This PDS does not cover every aspect of risk associated with ETOs. For further information concerning risks associated with ETO trading please refer to the ASX booklet Understanding Options Trading and in particular the section entitled Risks of options trading.

Risks of ETOs

In deciding whether or not you should trade ETO contracts, you should be aware of the following matters relating to risk:

- Market risks. As a general rule, movements in the value of the underlying share or index will significantly affect the value of ETOs (although the change may be at a different rate or in a different direction). Such movements may cause the value of the option to fall in price or become worthless at or before expiry. The value of the underlying share or index is affected by information that is announced to ASX. Accordingly, it is advisable that an investor in ETOs regularly reviews this information (which can be viewed on ASX's website).
- Corporate activity. Where corporate activity (e.g. takeover, bonus issue, rights issue) occurs in an underlying share, this will have an effect on the corresponding open ETO positions. Shaw has no control over the effect of the corporate activity on open ETO positions and cannot foresee the specific risk or outcome (including as to the manner of any adjustments made by ASX to the ETO at the time of the corporate activity in question).
- Effect of leverage. The high level of leverage that can be obtained by trading ETOs (due to the low level of initial capital outlay) can work against, as well as for, the investor. Depending on market movements, the use of leverage will magnify the level of losses, for instance, when compared with the same sized investment in the underlying share.
- Limited life span. ETOs have a limited life span. The value of the ETO erodes over its life and this accelerates as expiry approaches. You should consider the life span of the ETO to ensure it meets your investment needs. For instance, if your intent in purchasing an ETO is to hedge an existing position, you should ensure it has sufficient life span to achieve this objective.

- Loss of premium for Buyers (takers). The maximum loss in buying (taking) an ETO is the amount of premium paid plus transaction costs. If the option expires worthless, the Buyer will lose the total value paid for the option (the premium) plus transaction costs.
- Unlimited loss for Sellers (writers). While Sellers of ETOs earn premium income, they may also incur unlimited losses if the market moves against the option position. The premium received by the Seller is a fixed amount; however the Seller may incur losses greater than that amount. For example, the Seller of a call option has increased risk where the market rises and the Seller does not own the underlying shares. If the option is exercised, the Seller of the option is forced to buy the underlying shares at the current (higher) market price in order to deliver them to the Buyer at the exercise price. Similarly, where the market falls, the Seller of a put option that is exercised is forced to buy the underlying shares from the Buyer at a price above the current market price.
- Loss of shares on exercise. Sellers of call options where the Seller owns the corresponding amount of underlying shares will be required to deliver those shares at the exercise price should the option be exercised.
- Loss of margin. Sellers of options could sustain a total loss of the amount of the margin deposited with their broker or ASX Clear if they close out their position or cannot maintain the position should the market adversely moves against the position. Margins and Additional Margins are discussed in more detail under section C of this PDS.
- Margin Calls. Your liability in relation to a written option contract is not limited to the amount of the margin paid. If the market moves against your position or margin levels are increased, you may be called upon to pay substantial additional margin on short notice to maintain your position, or upon settlement of contracts. If you fail to comply with a request for additional margin within the time prescribed, Shaw or its Clearing Participant may close out your position and you will be liable for any loss that might result.
- Changes made by ASX Clear or Shaw which may impact on margins. There may be certain changes which Shaw or ASX are required or authorised to make which have an impact on the margins required of you. These may include changes by ASX Clear as to whether it accepts certain collateral and how it is valued. Further, ASX Clear may change their method of calculating margins or Shaw may insist on you paying additional margins, including by way of a margin multiplier.
- Close-out difficulties. Under certain conditions, it may become difficult or impossible to close out a position. The relationship between the price of an ETO contract and the underlying share may become distorted. Examples of when this may happen include when there is a significant change in the price of the underlying share over a short period of time or if there is an absence or reduction in the number of willing Buyers and Sellers in either the ETO market or the underlying market. Additionally if the market is suspended or disrupted for any reason, this may also impair the ability to close-out the position. Similarly, events such as these in relation to the underlying market for the share may make it difficult for you to hedge or maintain your exposure under an open ETO contract.
- ASIC and ASX powers. ASIC, ASX and ASX Clear have discretionary powers in relation to the market and the operation of the clearing facility. They have power to suspend the market operation, or lift market suspension in options while the underlying shares are in trading halt if the circumstances are appropriate, restrict exercise, terminate an option position or substitute another underlying share, impose position limits or exercise limits or terminate contracts - all to ensure fair and orderly markets are maintained as far as practicable. These actions can affect your option positions.
- Trading disputes. Trades undertaken on the ASX may be subject to dispute. When a trade is subject to a dispute ASIC and ASX have powers, in accordance with their rules, to request that a broker amend or cancel a trade, which will in turn result in the ETO contract with the client being amended or cancelled. In some situations, ASIC and ASX may also exercise powers to cancel or vary, or direct the cancellation or variation, of transactions.
- Trade amendments and cancellations. Under Shaw's Client Agreement and Derivatives Client Agreement, we have the ability to amend or cancel trades. This could cause you to suffer loss or increase your loss. A trade executed on your behalf can also be amended or cancelled even where the trade has been confirmed to you.
- System outages. Trades undertaken on the ASX are traded on an electronic trading platform and cleared through ASX Clear, which relies on electronic systems. As with all such electronic platforms and systems, they may be subject to failure or temporary disruption. If the system fails or is interrupted Shaw will have difficulties in executing all or part of your order according to your instructions. Your ability to recover certain losses in these circumstances will be limited given the limits on liability imposed by the ASX, ASX Clear, Shaw and its Clearing Participant. Any market disruption may mean you are unable to deal in ETOs when desired and as a result you may suffer a loss. Common examples of disruption include a fire or other exchange emergency. The exchange could, for example, declare that an undesirable situation has developed in a particular ETO contract and suspend trading. Exchanges or Participants may also be able to cancel transactions under their rules.

- Capital loss. By trading in ETOs, you are exposed to the risk of losing capital. Investors should not risk more capital than they can afford to lose. While the level of risk exposure you wish to endure is ultimately a question for you, a good general rule is never speculate with money which, if lost, would alter your standard of living.
- Default. Shaw's Client Agreement and Derivatives Client Agreement set out various events of default. These include a failure by you to perform any obligation arising out of the opening, closing exercise or expiry of an Option including any call for margin. If you commit an event of default, Shaw or its Clearing Participant have extensive rights, including the right to enter into one or more transactions to effect the close out of one or more of your open contracts, and the right to sell any financial products or other property of yours held by Shaw and its Clearing Participant and offset the proceeds of sale against any amounts you owe to Shaw or its Clearing Participant. These transactions are taken at your risk and you would be liable for any deficiency that may result.

Risks of LEPOs

LEPOs are subject to all of the risk factors that affect standard ETOs as outlined above. However, the Buyer (taker) of a LEPO has a significantly higher risk profile than they would with a standard ETO because the premium is larger and will be closer to the full value of the underlying share than a standard ETO. The risk is however still limited to the full amount of the LEPO premium. Although the Buyer of a LEPO may only be required to outlay a relatively small amount of money when the LEPO is entered into, at expiry, if the Buyer of a LEPO does not exercise the LEPO, they will lose an amount approximately equal to the then current premium of the LEPO.

Both Sellers (writers) and Buyers of LEPOs are required to pay margins to ASX Clear and positions are marked to market daily.

Protection

When selling (writing) an ETO or LEPO, the initial income or premium may seem attractive but the downside may be unlimited. Risk minimisation strategies (protection) should be employed to mitigate losses that may arise from an adverse margin movement or adverse market condition. Whilst this PDS provides information about the risks, characteristics and benefits of ETOs and LEPOs generally, investors should inform themselves and if necessary obtain advice about the specific risks, characteristics and benefits of the ETO or LEPO they intend to trade.

F. Costs

What are the costs?

The costs include:

- Brokerage and exchange fees as relates to ETOs. Set out in Part 2 of this PDS.
- Premium. If you are the Buyer (taker) of an ETO, you will be required to pay a premium in connection with the purchase of the ETO contract. If you are the Seller (writer) of an ETO, you will be entitled to receive a premium in connection with the sale of the ETO contract. For further detailed information on the premium in respect of an ETO contract, refer to the section Option Pricing Fundamentals of the ASX booklet Understanding Options Trading and also the ASX's options calculator available at www.asx.com.au.
- Margin and collateral. If you are the Seller of an ETO contract, you will be required to provide margin, and in certain circumstances collateral, to ASX Clear in accordance with the terms of your Client Agreement and Derivatives Client Agreement. ASX Clear calculates margin amounts using the Standard Portfolio Analysis of Risk (SPAN) margining system. For further detailed information on margin and collateral requirements, refer to the ASX Margins booklet available at www.asx.com.au.
- Additional margin. Details of any additional margin requirements Shaw may call over that required by ASX Clear are as discussed under the headings Margins and Additional Margins in section C of this PDS.

Liability

For Buyers (takers), trading options may result in a loss situation if the options are trading out of the money (for call options where the exercise price is higher or lower for put options, than the current market price), however the amount of the loss for a taker is limited to the premium paid. The liability of a Seller (writer) is potentially unlimited (naked position).

Direct Debit and Credit Agreement

To ensure settlement of transactions and margin requirements, Shaw and its Clearing Participant may require that you authorise Shaw and its Clearing Participant to pay funds directly into, or take funds directly from your Shaw-designated cash management account (ANZ V2 Restricted). See the Client Account Opening Form and the Direct Debit and Credit Agreement in the Client Account document for further information.

G. Your Instructions

If you wish to instruct Shaw to enter into a transaction in Options on your behalf, you must instruct us to do so either in writing or verbally. You can give your instructions in person, by telephone, post or via email to your Adviser. Instructions sent by post or email will not be deemed received until your Adviser has confirmed receipt or placed the order. It is essential that you provide your Adviser with clear instructions. Shaw will execute your order(s) directly into the market in accordance with the relevant Market Integrity Rules.

You may authorise a third party to act on your account by completing Section G of the Client Account Opening Form or by completing an Authority to Operate a Shaw Account form. You may also authorise a third party to act on your account by giving Shaw a certified copy of an effective Power of Attorney. We will assume that all instructions given on your behalf pursuant to any authority is valid until we are advised in writing that the authority has been withdrawn. A third party authorised to act on your behalf will not be entitled to direct that your shares be used as third party collateral for another client's account or to make payments on your account to anyone other than you, unless empowered to do so by Power of Attorney.

Most orders are executed shortly after receipt, however there is no guarantee that your order will be executed within any given time period. The time taken to execute your order will depend upon a number of factors, including your price instructions, the market, the size and complexity of the order. Your Adviser will tell you if there are any unexpected delays in executing your order. Once your order is executed, you will receive a confirmation from Shaw's Clearing Participant detailing the transaction undertaken.

H. Tax Implications

Warning

The information below is based on existing Australian tax law and established interpretations as at the date of this PDS. It is intended as a brief guide only and does not cover every aspect of taxation related with the use of ETOs. The information applies to Australian resident investors only. It is important to note that your tax position when trading ETOs will depend on your individual circumstances, in particular whether you are trading on a revenue or capital account or whether you are subject to the Taxation of Financial Arrangements (TOFA) rules, contained in Division 230 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

The taxation of Options can be complex and may change over time. Accordingly, we recommend you seek professional tax advice before entering into or disposing of an ETO. Shaw and its employees are not able to give tax or legal advice. You should not rely solely on the information in this PDS when making decisions about your investments.

In order to determine the taxation consequences of any transactions, you must first determine whether the TOFA rules apply.

TOFA

Depending on the relevant circumstances a taxpayer may be subject to the TOFA rules. ETOs covered by this PDS are expected to qualify as financial arrangements and therefore the TOFA rules are likely to have a significant impact on the taxation of ETOs. Briefly, the rules:

- generally deem gains and losses from financial arrangements to be on revenue account
- impact on the timing of the recognition of the gains and losses, and
- may cause unrealised gains and losses to become subject to tax.

Below is a brief summary of the rules. The TOFA rules are complex and it is strongly recommended that taxpayers seek specific tax advice on the application of the rules to their dealings.

Application

Generally, the TOFA rules will not apply to individuals, small superannuation funds and small securitisation vehicles. However, the rules will apply to these taxpayers if the financial arrangement involves substantial tax deferral. The TOFA rules do apply to most corporate taxpayers provided certain turnover and other tests are met.

Impact

The TOFA rules allow taxpayers to make a number of elections that determine how gains and losses from financial arrangements will be taxed. The elections are generally irrevocable. If taxpayers do not make any elections other than to enter into the TOFA regime early, the rules should treat most gains and losses from ETOs on a realisation basis. Gains from exercising ETOs will not contribute to the cost base of the asset received upon the exercise. However, the accruals method may apply in some cases to spread the recognition of some gains and losses over the life of the ETO. The fair value and financial report elections include in the tax calculation, gains and losses from financial arrangements that are reflected in the profit and loss statement (e.g. financial arrangements that for accounting purposes are classified as held for trading or designated as valued at fair value through profit and loss). This means that unrealised gains and losses may be subject to tax. If you made a valid fair value or financial reports election and it did not cease to apply to you, the gains and losses from ETOs for tax will be aligned to the gains and losses recognised in the profit and loss for accounts. The hedging election allows tax matching of the gains and losses from the underlying hedged item. The matching is both timing (i.e. over the time the underlying item is held) and character (i.e. will take on tax character, revenue or capital, of the underlying item). The arrangements subject to the hedging election will not be subject to the fair value or financial reports elections, even if those are made. If you made a valid hedging election and an ETO qualifies for the hedging election treatment, the gains and losses from the ETO will be matched to the gains and losses from the underlying hedged item. The conditions for the hedging election are complex and include documentation and hedge effectiveness requirements.

Revenue account

For Australian resident investors that are a Seller (writer) of an option in the ordinary course of business or the option has been sold over an underlying revenue asset, the option will be treated as being on revenue account.

The premium received by the Seller of the option will be assessable on a due and receivable basis. Where any premium is credited to the Seller's Client account the amount will still be assessable on this basis. Any subsequent margin calls are not deductible when they are deposited by the Seller into their Client account. These margins will merely reduce any net position of the Seller upon the closeout, settlement or exercise of the option by the Buyer (taker). Where interest is received by the Seller on the margins held in their Client account, this is required to be included in the Seller's assessable income.

A Buyer will generally hold an option on revenue account when it is held or traded in the ordinary course of business, or the option is used to hedge an underlying revenue asset. Where this is the case, any premium paid by the Buyer is generally regarded as being deductible on a due and payable basis. This will generally be at the time the option is entered into. There are no further tax implications where an option on revenue account lapses. However, where an option on revenue account is exercised, the option strike price will form part of the acquisition cost or disposal proceeds for the underlying asset in question. Alternatively, where the option is closed-out prior to its expiration, any gain or loss on the option position will be treated as assessable or deductible as the case may be.

Capital account

Where a Seller (writer) sells (writes) an option over an underlying capital transaction, the option will be held on capital account. Consequently, any income tax implications will be determined in accordance with the Capital Gains Tax (CGT) provisions. The premium received by the Seller of the option will give rise to an assessable capital gain on a received or a receivable basis. Where any premium is credited to the Seller's ASX Clear account the amount will still be assessable on this basis. Any subsequent margin calls will merely reduce any net position of the Seller upon the close-out, settlement or exercise of the option by the Buyer (taker). Where interest is received by the Seller on the margins held in their ASX Clear account, this is required to be included in the Seller's assessable income.

Where a call option is exercised, the option premium and the proceeds on the sale of the underlying asset should be treated as a single transaction. Accordingly, both the premium and the proceeds received will form part of the Seller's capital proceeds for CGT purposes. This may have practical implications for the Seller of options where the premium and sale proceeds are received in different financial years.

Where a put option is exercised, the option premium paid and exercise price will form part of the cost base of the underlying asset for the investor. Accordingly, both the premium and the strike price paid will form part of the Seller's cost base of the underlying asset for CGT purposes. This may have practical implications for the Seller of options where the premium is received in a different financial year to the payment of the strike price and acquisition of the underlying capital asset.

A Buyer will generally hold an option on capital account where an underlying capital transaction is being hedged. Consequently, any income tax implications will be determined in accordance with the CGT provisions. At the time the premium is paid, there will be no taxation consequences for the Buyer in respect of any premium paid for options that are held on capital account. When an option on capital account lapses the Buyer will realise a capital loss equal to the amount of the premium paid. When an option is settled or closed out, the Buyer will realise a capital gain or loss depending on the amount paid (being the premium plus any incidental costs) for the option and the amount received on settlement.

Where a call option is exercised, the option premium and exercise price will form part of the cost base of the underlying asset for the Buyer.

Where a put option is exercised, the Buyer will generally deduct the option price from the proceeds received on the disposal of the underlying asset.

LEPOs

From an income tax perspective there are no specific legislative rules dealing with LEPOs. The taxation consequences of investing in LEPOs will be determined by having regard to the respective circumstances of the investor according to general tax principles. Generally, the taxation consequences of investing in LEPOs will be the same as those outlined above. However, an alternate view exists that is again essentially the same as that outlined above, except that the relevant point for determining any taxation consequences does not occur until the LEPOs are closed out, exercised or expire.

Goods and Services Tax

The purchase and disposal of ETOs over shares and any index by investors is not subject to goods and services tax (GST) other than in respect of any brokerage or other transactional costs.

Part 2 of the PDS: Schedule of Fees

This document forms part of the PDS. This document should be read in conjunction with Part 1 of the PDS. The following information relates to the way we charge for transacting in ETOs for you, associated costs and the way our advisers are remunerated.

Brokerage

The specific rate of brokerage can be negotiated with your Adviser and will depend on factors such as the level of service, the type of advice, the size and complexity of the transaction and the frequency of any transactions on your Client Account.

Brokerage is calculated as a percentage of the premium paid or received. As at the date of this PDS a minimum fee of $125 (plus GST) is applied to each transaction in ETOs, but this can be negotiated with your Adviser. By way of example, if there is brokerage of 1.5% and the premium paid or received was $10,000, the brokerage exclusive of GST would be $150. The total fee charged would be $165 inclusive of GST.

The rate of brokerage is usually less than 2.5%. The actual amount of brokerage payable by you will be disclosed in the confirmation for the transaction but called commission and noted under the heading Commission Rate and Value.

GST

An amount equal to the amount of GST will be charged to you on all brokerage and fees, currently at the rate of 10%.

Interest

Shaw's Clearing Participant will maintain a trust account to hold funds which you have provided to settle transactions we have undertaken on your behalf. Shaw's Clearing Participant will pay to Shaw interest on the trust account, at the Reserve Bank cash rate less an administration fee of 75 basis points (0.75%).

ASX Clear may pay interest to Shaw's Clearing Participant on cash lodged as collateral to cover ASX Clear margins. Any interest paid by ASX Clear to Shaw's Clearing Participant will be at the Reserve Bank cash rate less 65 basis points (0.65%). Shaw's Clearing Participant will pass on the amount received from ASX Clear to Shaw. Shaw will pay that amount to clients less an administration fee of 35 basis points (0.35%) where a Client Account receives more than $25.00 of interest per month as paid by ASX Clear to Shaw's Clearing Participant. This interest will appear on your monthly statement.

ASX Clear fees

ASX Clear charges a registration fee of between $0.06 and $0.31 per equity option contract, plus GST. If you exercise an ETO or are assigned on an ETO, ASX Clear charges an exercise fee of $0.05 per contract, plus GST.

In the case of index options, ASX Clear charges $0.45 per contract, plus GST and an exercise fee of $0.35 per contract, plus GST.

The exact cost of your transaction will be disclosed on your confirmation.

Tax deductibility

Some fees that we charge may be tax deductible. You must confirm this with your tax adviser or accountant in relation to your specific situation.

Fail fees

Fail fees are charged as a percentage of the trade value or margin call, per day they remain outstanding. For any trade value or margin call greater than $50,000, Shaw will charge a late settlement fee of 0.04% of the total outstanding per day (due to provision of funding by Shaw) plus an administration fee of $50.00, plus GST. If the trade value or margin call is less than $50,000, a minimum charge will apply of $30.00 per day, plus GST.

Margin requirements

Margins are discussed in Part 1 of this PDS, under the heading Margins in section C.

Remuneration

Your Adviser is either an independent contractor to Shaw or an employee of an independent contractor to Shaw. Your Adviser, or their employer, is remunerated wholly on a commission basis by retaining a percentage of the brokerage you generate, paid monthly.

Shaw employees and directors receive salaries based on performance criteria and other benefits from Shaw, not you.

Referral fees

Where you have been referred to us by a third party (such as a financial planning group or accountant), we may pay an introductory fee or commission rebate in relation to the referral. All introductory fees or commission rebates are negotiated with the third party on a case by case basis and may be up to 75% of our charges. Please refer to the FSG or SOA provided by the relevant third party for more detailed information on payments (if any) payable. These fees are not in addition to any charges payable by you and are included in your brokerage charge.

How to Read Your Statements

Should you choose to transact in ETOs, you will receive a number of different statements including a:

- Trading Statement, which includes a confirmation of any transaction or cash movement on your Client Account from the previous business day, together with a report of the open positions and financial details of your Client Account
- Position and Financial Statement, which is a monthly report of any current positions open on your Client Account, together with a statement of the financial details relating to your dealings in ETOs
- Current Account Statement, which is a monthly report of the financial transactions on your Client Account during the month
- Collateral Holdings Statement, which is a monthly report that lists any shares or bank guarantees lodged as collateral at ASX Clear on your Client Account as at the last business day of the month, and
- Notification Statement, which is a monthly report only generated in circumstances where you have a position that is exercised, assigned or expires or where an adjustment has been made to your positions by ASX during the month.

Information contained in one statement may be replicated in another statement. All statements only relate to your dealings and cash movements in Derivatives.

Important to Understand

It is important that you read and understand the contents of your statements. You must advise Shaw immediately if you do not receive a statement or there are any discrepancies in any statements you do receive by calling Shaw Compliance on +61 2 9238 1238. The total premium paid to the client for the position opened was $2,350, being 25 x 100 x $0.94 (25 contracts with 100 shares per contract). The client is now at risk, should the position be exercised, to buy 2,500 COL shares at $32.50 per share until the position is closed or expires. The fees and commission (brokerage) related to the transaction are set out to the right. This excerpt states that the COL position sold was subject to ASX Clear registration fees of $0.13 per contract (25 x $0.13) and a flat brokerage rate of $125.00 charged by Shaw. Accordingly, the total payable to the client for opening the COL position less fees and commission was $2,208.92 ($2,350 - $3.58 - $137.50) as identified as the Total under the heading Traded Value Posted in the first extract.

The excerpt Current Open Position Details above states that there are two positions currently open on the sample Client Account.

The first open position is 25 BHP put contracts with a strike price of $30.00 bought at $1.145 per share. The premium paid by the client to open the position was $2,862.50 (being 25 x 100 x $1.145). At close of trade the estimated theoretical price calculated by ASX for that option series is $1.50. Accordingly if the client chose to close the position, they would receive an estimated premium of $3,750.00 (being 25 x 100 x $1.50), which would be a theoretical profit of $887.50 (Market Value less the Traded Value) less any transactional costs. Until the position is closed or expires on 30 August 2012 the client may elect to exercise the right to sell 2,500 BHP shares at $30.00 per share.

The second open position is 25 STO put contracts sold with a strike price of $14.20 at $3.35 a share. The premium received by the client to open the position was $8,375.00 (being 25 x 100 x $3.35). At close of trade the estimated theoretical price calculated by ASX for that option series is $2.36. Accordingly if the client chose to close the position, they would pay an estimated premium to buy the position back of $5,900.00, (being 25 x 100 x $2.36), being a theoretical profit of $2,475.00 (Traded Value less the Market Value) less any transactional costs. Until the position is closed or expires on 20 December 2012, the client is at risk of having to buy 2,500 STO shares at $14.20 per share.

The excerpt Financial Details above states that the cash balance from the prior business day was $16,043.68. As at close of trade the client had been charged ASX Clear registration fees of $29.33 (incl. GST) and Shaw has charged brokerage of $354.24 (incl. GST) for positions bought or sold that day. The client will be paid the next business day premiums of $10,677.50 for positions sold that day. The client is to pay $15,355.00 the next business day for positions bought that day. There was a cash movement into the Client Account of $2,399.96 that day. The total sum of the prior cash balance, premiums, fees, brokerage and cash movements is $13,382.57 as at the close of trade. ASX Clear requires margin of $14,453.82 to hold the current open risk positions on the Client Account as calculated using SPAN, together with any additional margin applied by Shaw. The client has lodged collateral in the form of shares or a bank guarantee that meets the initial margin identified, accordingly there is a $0.00 (nil) requirement to provide cash to cover the margin. In accordance with the client's standing instructions $13,382.57 will either be paid to the client's bank account or paid into trust. While the client's daily reconciliation results in a payment in their favour, their current open positions carry a theoretical obligation of $10,319.00 to close all option positions on the Client Account (plus any transactional costs).

Explanation of Agreements

In order to transact in Derivatives with Shaw, there are a number of different agreements you must enter, which are:

- First Part – Derivatives Agreement
- Second Part – Derivatives Clearing Agreement, and
- Third Part – Deed of Guarantee and Indemnity (company clients only)

(together, your Derivatives Client Agreement).

The Derivatives Client Agreement supplements the Client Agreement entered when establishing your Client Account. Set out below is a brief explanation of the importance of each Agreement to you.

First Part – Derivatives Agreement

The Derivatives Agreement sets out the terms and conditions most relevant to the execution of your orders and the provision of advice to you by Shaw or your Adviser with respect to Derivatives.

Second Part – Derivatives Clearing Agreement

The Derivatives Clearing Agreement sets out the terms and conditions upon which Shaw's Clearing Participant settles transactions and margin requirements related to Derivatives on your Client Account.

Shaw has outsourced certain non-advisory functions to FinClear Services Pty Ltd (Shaw's Clearing Participant). The functions outsourced are administrative in nature only and do not affect your relationship with your Adviser. Instead of paying Shaw or receiving funds from Shaw, you pay funds to, and receive funds from Shaw's Clearing Participant, because it settles the transactions undertaken by Shaw on market for you and any margin requirements relating to your Client Account. This arrangement is called third party clearing. As a Participant of ASX Clear, Shaw's Clearing Participant is bound by ASIC's Market Integrity Rules and the ASX Clear Operating Rules.

Third Part – Deed of Guarantee and Indemnity

If your Client Account is held in the name of a company, Shaw requires that the directors guarantee the obligations of the company, because dealing in Derivatives can involve substantial ongoing obligations.

Derivatives Client Agreement

First Part – Derivatives Agreement

- (a) acknowledge that you have read and understood Shaw's current Client Agreement, available from your Adviser or at www.shawandpartners.com.au
- (b) agreed to be bound by the terms and conditions of the Client Agreement, and
- (c) hereby warrant in favour of Shaw at the date of this Agreement and each time you instruct Shaw to enter into a contract in relation to ASX Derivative Products, each of the warranties set out in the Client Agreement.

If you have not received the Client Agreement, do not sign the Derivatives Client Account Form and contact Shaw immediately.

2.2 You and Shaw agree that the terms of our relationship, in respect of ASX Derivatives Products and any dealings between us concerning ASX Derivatives Products are subject to, and we are bound by, the Corporations Act, the Market Rules, the Clearing Rules and the procedures, customs, usages and practices of ASX, ASX Clear and their related entities, as amended from time to time, insofar as they apply to ASX Derivatives Products.

2.3 You warrant to Shaw that you will comply with the terms of the Derivatives Clearing Agreement with Shaw's Clearing Participant in the Second Part. The acknowledgements, agreements and warranties that you give in the Derivatives Clearing Agreement you also give to Shaw as if it were the party referred to in that agreement as Shaw's Clearing Participant. You agree that Shaw may enforce any of the terms of the Derivatives Clearing Agreement against you as if it were the party referred to as Shaw's Clearing Participant.

2.4 Before accepting any orders to enter into transactions in ASX Derivative Products for you, pursuant to this Agreement Shaw's Clearing Participant will open an account with ASX Clear in your name in accordance with the Clearing Rules.

3. Product Disclosure Statement and ASX Educational Booklet

3.1 You acknowledge that:

- (a) you have read and understood the Product Disclosure Statement for Exchange Traded Options (PDS) provided with this Agreement, and
- (b) you have given consideration to your objectives, financial situation and needs (your personal circumstances) and have formed the opinion that dealing in ASX Derivative Products is suitable for your personal circumstances. If you are unsure you should discuss with your financial adviser.

- 3.2 You acknowledge that you have received and read either:
- (a) a hard copy of the current educational booklet published by ASX in respect of each ASX Derivative Product (Educational Booklet); or
 - (b) an electronic copy of the Educational Booklet on the ASX website at www.asx.com.au or at Shaw's website at www.shawandpartners.com.au.
- 3.3 The Educational Booklet is authored by ASX and Shaw does not warrant the accuracy or completeness of the information in the Educational Booklet.
- 3.4 You should only transact in Derivatives if you understand the nature of the product and the extent of your exposure to risk. A thorough review of the PDS prior to placing any trades is essential. If you do not understand the PDS, or an aspect of the PDS, you agree that you will immediately advise Shaw of this fact in writing. You acknowledge that Shaw, in providing advice and transacting in Derivatives on your behalf, relies on you having read and understood the PDS and the Educational Booklet.
- 3.5 Notwithstanding that the PDS need only be provided to clients classified as retail clients under the Corporations Act 2001 (Corporations Act) and not to wholesale clients, you give the acknowledgements set out in this clause regardless of your classification.

4. Your Instructions

- 4.1 Shaw is not required to act in accordance with your instructions where to do so would constitute a breach of the Clearing Rules, the Market Rules or the Corporations Act.
- 4.2 You must instruct Shaw if you want to exercise an ASX Derivative Product, which is an option. However, you acknowledge that Shaw will automatically exercise at expiry any bought option positions in your Client Account which are $0.01 or more in the money by reference to the prices disseminated by ASX Clear in the Derivatives Clearing System, unless you instruct Shaw not to exercise the position prior to 4.30pm on the relevant expiry day.
- 4.3 You agree that, because of the nature of the ongoing obligations associated with open Derivative positions, you will be contactable at all times when you have open Derivative positions.

5. Dealing as Principal

- 5.1 You acknowledge that Shaw may, in certain circumstances permitted under the Corporations Act, the Clearing Rules and the Market Rules, take the opposite position in a transaction in an ASX Derivative Product, either acting for another client or on its own account or on the account of an associate of Shaw. Shaw may from time to time undertake transactions on its own behalf through other Market Participants. You acknowledge that in some circumstances such orders may compete with the orders of Shaw's clients indirectly.
- 5.2 Notwithstanding that Shaw may act in accordance with the instructions of, or for your benefit, you acknowledge that any contract in ASX Derivative Products arising from any order submitted to ASX is entered into by Shaw as principal.

6. Shaw May Call for Funds or Security

- 6.1 Shaw may call for payment of money, or the provision of other security, to Shaw or its Clearing Participant that Shaw considers, in its absolute discretion, appropriate in connection with the obligations incurred by Shaw or its Clearing Participant in respect of contracts in ASX Derivative Products entered into on your account. The time by which you must pay any amount called, or provide security, is of the essence and if no other time is stipulated in this Agreement, you must pay the amounts, or provide the relevant security within 24 hours of the call for payment. You acknowledge that the amount called may be in excess of the margin requirements established by ASX Clear, and that the call may be made by Shaw and/or by its Clearing Participant either by notifying you in writing (including by email or electronic statement) or verbally.
- 6.2 You agree that in order to receive ongoing statements and requests for provision of funds or securities in a timely manner, you will provide Shaw with the details of your email address. Shaw may waive compliance with this sub-clause at its discretion and will provide you notice that it will no longer provide information by email.
- 6.3 You authorise the use of any securities Shaw holds as sponsor on CHESS, to be lodged with or otherwise made available to ASX Clear, as security for deposits or margins payable to ASX Clear in respect of your account.
- 6.4 If you have provided an authority, either to Shaw or to its Clearing Participant, to directly debit a bank account, you authorise the relevant party to automatically debit funds from that nominated account to satisfy your obligations to settle with, pay fail fees and interest to, and indemnify Shaw and its Clearing Participant hereunder.

- 6.5 You warrant that any money or security which you provide to Shaw, Shaw's Clearing Participant or ASX Clear under this clause, is and will remain free from any encumbrances.
- 6.6 You acknowledge that you will not be entitled to the return of any money or security provided under this clause until, in the reasonable opinion of Shaw, Shaw and/or its Clearing Participant have no further actual or contingent liability in connection with any contract in ASX Derivative Products entered into by Shaw on your behalf.
- 6.7 Where, in accordance with this agreement, the CHES Sponsorship Agreement and/or your instructions, Shaw initiates any action which has the effect of creating a subposition over financial products in the Sponsored Holding:
- (a) You acknowledge that the right to transfer, convert or otherwise deal with those financial products is restricted in accordance with the terms of the ASX Settlement Operating Rules relating to subpositions;
 - (b) You authorise Shaw to reserve the collateral in the subposition so that the financial products come under the control of ASX Clear and are subject to the security interest granted in favour of ASX Clear to secure the performance by the relevant Clearing Participant of its obligations to ASX Clear under the ASX Clear Operating Rules;
 - (c) You authorise any subsequent dealing (including, without limitation, any transfer) of the reserved financial products in accordance with the ASX Settlement and Clear Operating Rules; and
 - (d) You acknowledge that the financial products will remain subject to that security interest for so long as those financial products remain reserved in the ASX Clear subposition;
 - (e) Where another Sponsored Holder is lodging collateral as Cover you have ensured that the relevant Sponsored Holder has authorised and been made aware of the restrictions to their holdings detailed in this clause.

7. Settlement

- 7.1 Unless Shaw or its Clearing Participant holds sufficient monies or financial products on your behalf to settle a transaction, you must pay any amount and deliver any financial products, which you are liable to pay or deliver in connection with a transaction in an ASX Derivative Product by 9:00am on the business day following the date of entry into the transaction.

- 7.2 Notwithstanding the above sub-clause, Shaw may notify you verbally or in writing of a shorter period for payment or delivery and you agree to meet any such shortened deadline.
- 7.3 You acknowledge that:

You may choose to terminate this agreement in accordance with clause 10.1 or by giving instruction to Shaw's Clearing Participant, indicating that you wish to transfer your Derivatives Contracts to another Participant.

If you do not take any action to terminate this agreement and do not give any other instructions to Shaw's Clearing Participant which would indicate that you do not agree to the change of Participant then, on the Effective Date, this agreement will have been taken to be novated to the new Participant and will be binding on all parties as if on the Effective Date:

- (a) the new Participant is a party to this agreement in substitution for Shaw's Clearing Participant;
- (b) any rights of Shaw's Clearing Participant are transferred to the new Participant; and
- (c) Shaw's Clearing Participant is released by you from any obligations arising on or after the Effective Date, and you will also be taken to have consented to and authorised:

This agreement continues for the benefit of Shaw's Clearing Participant in respect of any rights and obligations accruing before the Effective Date and, to the extent that any law or provision of any agreement makes the novation not binding or effective on the Effective Date, then this agreement will continue for the benefit of Shaw's Clearing Participant until such time as the novation is effective, and the existing Participant will hold the benefit of this agreement on trust for the new Participant.

Nothing in this clause 6.1 will prevent the completion of Derivatives Transactions or Derivatives Contracts by Shaw's Clearing Participant where the obligation to complete those transactions or contracts arises before the Effective Date and this agreement will continue to apply to the completion of those contracts, notwithstanding the novation of this agreement to the new Participant under this clause 6.1.
